

VIC BUTLER FREE.

The Bibb County Grand Jury fails to find a Bill

AGAINST A BOY CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Cases in the United States Court—Macon Will Celebrate the "Fourth" in Grand Style—Other Macon Notes.

Macon, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—The grand jury of Bibb county met this morning and will probably adjourn for the term tomorrow.

This morning the time of the jury was taken up in hearing evidence in the case of young Vic Butler, charged with the killing of Bob Dougherty.

The boy, who is about fourteen years old, has already been acquitted by the coroner's jury, and also by the justice of the peace before whom the case was brought. After a full investigation the jury refused to find a bill and for the third time young Butler is allowed to go free. It was evident to the jury that the case was one in which Dougherty was determined to provoke trouble, and as has been already stated in the Constitution, young Dougherty bore an unfortunately bad reputation as a bully.

A New Trial Granted.

The motion and certiorari docket is being heard in the superior court this week. This morning an application for a new trial in the now famous case of Kent against the Central railroad was granted. This case has already been sent to the supreme court twice and by that body has been sent back to the lower court. This will make the third time the case has gone up, notwithstanding the fact that each and every jury that has heard the case has awarded good damages to the plaintiff.

In the United States Court.

In the United States court a branch of the old case of H. J. Lamar and others against J. S. McTigue & Co. came up. Mr. Marion Erwin, who represents the plaintiffs, has filed a petition for an injunction in which it is set forth that McTigue & Co. acted fraudulently when they asked the plaintiffs to become their bondsmen. It is set forth that McTigue & Co., together with the subcontractors, were in a combine to defraud in that they allowed it to be believed that they were using rock for the purposes of track laying, when, as a matter of fact and according to affidavits of competent engineers, no rock was used.

A affidavits to the opposite effect have been filed and the case is being stubbornly fought by Messrs. Hardeman, Reid, Nottingham, Steed and Wimberly for the defendants.

Preparing for the "Fourth."

Preparations, and big preparations at that, are now on foot for Macon's grand celebration of the 4th of July.

And the other things prepared is a grand rally of democrats headed by the Young Men's Democratic Club. The rally will be held at Central City park, and all the prominent democrats in the county and district will be asked to speak, endorsing the ticket put in nomination at Chicago last week, and in fact making out of the affair the rallying square which will form the foundation of the great fight that will be made in Bibb county and the sixth congressional district for pure and undiluted democracy.

The programme for the coming celebration includes a number of most attractive features, an outline of which is given in the Constitution about a week ago, and was published in full in the local papers.

Yesterday Mr. J. Van, who is always to the front in undertakings which demand public attention, which are the principal good to us up to his name is King, but the other man, whose name is Otto, will be even greater this year than on any former occasion of the kind in Macon.

The Atlanta Law School.

The First Annual Commencement Will Occur Tomorrow Evening.

The Atlanta Law School, established about a year ago, will have its first annual commencement will occur tomorrow night. The exercises will be held at the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association. The following is the programme:

1. Opening Solo, by the dean.*2. Violin solo, Serendipity, Andalousie, Sarasate.*3. Address by orator of the class, Mr. C. J. Hayes.*4. Piano solo, Barcarolle, Rubenstein, Mr. William C. Rehm.*5. Address by orator of evening, Hon. W. T. Myers.*6. Piano solo, Faust Fantasy, Sarasate, Mr. Harry Blumenfeld.*7. Conferring the degrees and presentation of diplomas, president and trustees.*Young Men's Christian Association.*8. Closing.*Gordon Institute Commencement.

Barnesville, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—The town is at present alive with visitors, who are here to witness the commencement exercises of Gordon Institute.

An unusually large crowd was expected and ample arrangements have been made to entertain them.

Extensive preparations have been made by the trustees of the institute, so that the institution will have one of the most successful commencements in its entire history.

The commencement sermon was preached Sunday morning by Dr. McFerrin, instead of Friday morning as stated in a previous article. The text was "Behold, verily I say unto thee, that thou must be born again." Then the Rev. Mr. Cox led us of the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil.

He spoke a few words of the temptation placed before our Lord by the devil. He emphasized the fact that the devil does not tempt us to do what we want to do, but often in the garb of an angel of light. In conclusion he made an earnest appeal to the devil in the flesh, for him to be on the alert for the devil, not to be caught in the fix of the man to whom the Lord said: "Thou fool, this night shall thy soul be taken from thee."

The sermon was an able discourse, and was highly appreciated by the large and attentive audience.

Friday was sophomore day. The exercises consisted of readings and declamations, as follows:

Declamation—Extract from Gray, W. C. Jordan.

Reading—"The First and Last Race," Miss Lida Crouch.

Declamation—Extract from Stephens, John Dorsey.

Reading—"The Rugged's Dinner," Miss Gertrude M. Hayes.

Declamation—Extract from Grady, Edward Myers.

Reading—"A Domestic Tempest," Miss Maybell Veal.

Declamation—"Jefferson Davis No Traitor," Mr. C. Beauchamp.

Reading—"Surrey's Dream," L. K. Moss.

Declamation—Extract from Hill, Lee McDaniel.

Reading—"Bill Arp on the Toothache," Miss Bobbie Cook.

Declamation—"Mabel Martin," Miss Maggie Smith.

To say that the exercises were good would not be doing them, who participated in them, proper credit. The exercises were choice.

The readings and declamations were choice, and the young men and ladies deserved them as well as any affected by the cicerone and good order of the large audience.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a prize drama contest took place.

The participants in this contest were the students in the primary department, some of whom are shown in the picture.

The house was crowded, and the little people's entertainment was pronounced fine.

The music is to be had in a pleasant selection from the music department, under the direction of Rankin, W. H. Veal.

There will be a grand parade by the Gordon Institute Cadets at 6 o'clock p.m.

DR. PRICE'S DELICIOUS Flavoring Extracts NATURAL FRUIT FLAVORS.

Vanilla - Of perfect purity.
Lemon - Of great strength.
Orange - Economy in their use.
etc., etc., flavor especially as the fresh fruit.

CARROLL'S CONTEST.*A Primary to Be Held in That County

Next Saturday.

CANDIDATES WHO WILL BE VOTED FOR.

The Voters to Endorse on Their Tickets Their Preferences for Governor, Congressman, Etc.

Carrollton, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—The voters of Carroll county will hold a primary election next Saturday, the 2d of July, for congressman, governor and state house officers. The voters of each district will elect delegates to a county convention to be held here next Monday, the 4th, and each voter is requested to endorse, on his ticket for delegates, his choice for congressman, governor and statehouse officers. The candidate for each office receiving the highest number of votes will be the choice of Carroll, and the delegates will be so instructed. Col. J. L. Moses will be the solid endorsement for congress and Governor Northern for governor.

It is well understood that Hon. G. W. Hayes and Colonel Edgar W. Watkins will be the candidates for the legislature, and will be the nominees of the party. These gentlemen have met the third party speakers and have agreed to support them in their efforts to help them get into the county, and the new doctrine has been thoroughly exposed in every instance. Dr. R. L. Howe, of Temple, and Jesse A. Murrah of this district will, it is said, be the candidates for the third party ticket. These two gentlemen are the strongest in the new party ranks of this county, and a lively race is anticipated.

This is Heard county's time to name a senator for the thirty-seventh district, and, as this county has shirked this responsibility, it will be quite interesting. Hon. P. R. Jackson, Judge Britt Ware, and Colonel P. H. Whitaker are announced candidates, and others, it is said, will enter the race in a few days. Each of the above gentlemen has a good following in this county, as well as in Heard and Lumpkin counties, and this race will be a hot one, and full of interest. The third party people will put all of them in the race, and it is said they propose to name a Carroll county man, and his name is Dr. William Goulding, of this place.

The News in Cave Spring.

Cave Spring, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—The news in Cave Spring was received here. Much interest was felt in the work of the convention and the Constitution was impatiently awaited and eagerly read. When the news came that there were many expressions of dissatisfaction and something more serious, it was quite interesting. Hon. P. R. Jackson, Judge Britt Ware, and Colonel P. H. Whitaker are announced candidates, and others, it is said, will enter the race in a few days. Each of the above gentlemen has a good following in this county, as well as in Heard and Lumpkin counties, and this race will be a hot one, and full of interest. The third party people will put all of them in the race, and it is said they propose to name a Carroll county man, and his name is Dr. William Goulding, of this place.

HIS FEET SLIPPED.

A Man Killed Near Griffin While Attempting to Board a Train.

Griffin, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—This morning two men bought tickets from Barnesville to Newnan, but failed to change cars at Griffin and were put off by the conductor at Sunnyside. As a freight train was coming in this direction the men made an effort to board it, which was successful with the first one, whose name is King, but the other man, whose name is Otto, slipped and fell under the wheels and was terribly mutilated.

The train ran over his right thigh near the hip, ripped his bowels open and crushed his skull, left at the knee and fractured his skull.

The accident was witnessed by the train's crew, who immediately stopped the train, cut loose the engine and run to this city for the road's surgeon, Dr. R. H. Taylor. To make the trip and get Drs. Taylor and Cole required about an hour's time and when they reached the spot the man was dead. No blame can be attached to the railroads, as the train was a freight running through and the men attempted to board it while in motion. It is also said the man Otto was considerably under the influence of whisky. He was a painter by trade and had been working for Mr. J. G. Smith, of Barnesville.

The ATLANTA LAW SCHOOL.

The First Annual Commencement Will Occur Tomorrow Evening.

The Atlanta Law School, established about a year ago, will have its first annual commencement will occur tomorrow night. The exercises will be held at the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association. The following is the programme:

1. Opening Solo, by the dean.

2. Violin solo, Serendipity, Andalousie, Sarasate.

3. Address by orator of the class, Mr. C. J. Hayes.

4. Piano solo, Barcarolle, Rubenstein, Mr. William C. Rehm.

5. Address by orator of evening, Hon. W. T. Myers.

6. Piano solo, Faust Fantasy, Sarasate, Mr. Harry Blumenfeld.

7. Conferring the degrees and presentation of diplomas, president and trustees.

Young Men's Christian Association.

8. Closing.

Gordon Institute Commencement.

Barnesville, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—The town is at present alive with visitors, who are here to witness the commencement exercises of Gordon Institute.

An unusually large crowd was expected and ample arrangements have been made to entertain them.

Extensive preparations have been made by the trustees of the institute, so that the institution will have one of the most successful commencements in its entire history.

The commencement sermon was preached Sunday morning by Dr. McFerrin, instead of Friday morning as stated in a previous article.

The text was "Behold, verily I say unto thee, that thou must be born again."

Then the Rev. Mr. Cox led us of the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil.

He spoke a few words of the temptation placed before our Lord by the devil.

He emphasized the fact that the devil does not tempt us to do what we want to do, but often in the garb of an angel of light.

In conclusion he made an earnest appeal to the devil in the flesh, for him to be on the alert for the devil, not to be caught in the fix of the man to whom the Lord said: "Thou fool, this night shall thy soul be taken from thee."

The sermon was an able discourse, and was highly appreciated by the large and attentive audience.

Friday was sophomore day. The exercises consisted of readings and declamations, as follows:

Declamation—Extract from Gray, W. C. Jordan.

Reading—"The First and Last Race," Miss Lida Crouch.

Declamation—Extract from Stephens, John Dorsey.

Reading—"The Rugged's Dinner," Miss Gertrude M. Hayes.

Declamation—Extract from Hill, Lee McDaniel.

Reading—"Bill Arp on the Toothache," Miss Bobbie Cook.

Declamation—"Mabel Martin," Miss Maggie Smith.

To say that the exercises were good would not be doing them, who participated in them, proper credit.

The readings and declamations were choice, and the young men and ladies deserved them as well as any affected by the cicerone and good order of the large audience.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a prize drama contest took place.

The participants in this contest were the students in the primary department, some of whom are shown in the picture.

The house was crowded, and the little people's entertainment was pronounced fine.

The music is to be had in a pleasant selection from the music department, under the direction of Rankin, W. H. Veal.

There will be a grand parade by the Gordon Institute Cadets at 6 o'clock p.m.

CARROLL'S CONTEST.*A Primary to Be Held in That County

Next Saturday.

CANDIDATES WHO WILL BE VOTED FOR.

The Voters to Endorse on Their Tickets Their Preferences for Governor, Congressman, Etc.

Up to this time no one knew the dog was mad, but thought it was just frolicsome humor, but later it had a plain case of rabies, frolicking at the table, etc., and it had to be killed by the marshal.

MUSICIANS MAKE DISCORD.

Ball Trover Suite and the Like Come Up Between Two Pianist Musicians.

Their discord and lack of harmony among some of Atlanta's leading musicians.

And that discord is developing into ball trover suites, and resulting in no little talk among Atlanta's world musicians.

The two most recent troublemakers are Mr. Hart E. Reeves and Mrs. Joseph Hart Black.

These names are foremost in Atlanta's musical circles, and the announcement that there is trouble between them will be received with surprise, even among those who know them well.

Mr. Reeves is a newcomer to Atlanta.

He is a native of Atlanta,

TEACHERS COMING.

Two Educational Conventions Meet Here
Next Week.

INTERESTING TOPICS FOR DISCUSSION.

The School Masters and School Mamas
Will Be Abroad Then, Sure Enough.

The teachers, two or three thousand strong, will be here next week. Two conventions will be held, first, the Georgia Teachers' Association on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday forenoon, and then the Southern Educational Association on Wednesday afternoon, Thursday and Friday.

One thousand teachers will be here from all over Georgia and it will be the largest convention the state association has ever held. These teachers are expected to wait over and attend the Southern Educational convention.

The executive officers of the state association will have their headquarters at Kimball and the local committees will have their headquarters at the capitol. All sessions of the general association will be held in the hall of the house of representatives, opening July 4th at 8 o'clock a.m. The most interesting business of the convention will probably be the discussion over the state's duty in the matter of negro education. The subject of higher education for the negro is attracting general interest and study in educational circles to-day. A good rudimentary education is demanded by all teachers, but higher education by the state has its champions and its opponents.

Entertaining programmes have been prepared and previously alluded to in The Constitution. Among the topics set for discussion before the Georgia Teachers' Association are: "Ethical Culture in the Public Schools," "The Georgia Normal College," "The Teacher and His Profession," "Our Boys and Girls," "The Work of the War Councils and the Women's War Councils," "Elementary Education," "The Negro in the South," and the last named topic. Superintendent W. H. Baker, of Savannah, will lead the discussion on "The Legal Relation of Teacher, Parent and Citizen." Superintendent W. J. McRae, of Waycross; Dr. W. E. Mayfield, of Evans, Augusta; Dr. W. C. Hon, John G. Harris, D. C.; Hon. John G. Harris, of Montgomery, Ala.; Captain D. B. Braden, Atlanta school commissioner, will take leading parts in the proceedings of the Georgia association. The officers of this association are:

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President of Directors, Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon; W. H. Baker, Savannah; W. E. Boggs, Athens; J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; W. G. Green, Elberton; W. H. Harper, Americus; J. C. Harris, Cedartown; W. H. Woodall, Columbus; Homer Wright, Columbus.

Board of Trustees, S. P. Orr, Jefferson; W. E. Smith, Fredericksburg; E. B. Smith, Lagrange ex officio.

Committees on Local Organization.

Executive Committee—Major W. F. Stalton, chairman; D. Braden, vice president; R. H. Howell, A. K. Kontz, E. B. Stahlman, Joseph Hirsch, L. M. Landrum, Josiah Carter, D. A. Beatty, special committees.

Transportation—E. B. Stahlman, chairman; Harrison and Radcliffe—G. W. Harrison, chairman; Press—Mark Howell, chairman; Press and Places of Meetings—W. S. Thompson, chairman; Reception—J. J. Lowry, chairman; Hotel and Entertainment—Joseph Hirsch, chairman; Music—C. Davis, chairman.

Topics Before the Southern Convention.

All the subjects to be discussed by the southern convention which will be attended by not less than 2,500 teachers, are "Southern Education at the High Fair," "The South as a Factor in Our National Progress," "Women in Education," "Southern Literature," "Negro Education by the State, Its Necessity and Limitations," "Co-Education of the Sexes," "Co-education and Character," "Thorough Education of Our Girls," "Loyalty to the South," "The Friend of Higher Education in the South."

The department of higher education will discuss university extension, higher education of southern women and the ideal college.

In the department of secondary education the subjects set for discussion are: "Position of the High School," "The Importance of the High School," "Uniform Courses of Study."

The officers of the association are: President, Solomon Palmer, East Lake, Alabama; secretary and treasurer, Eugene G. Harrill, Atlanta; assistant secretary, W. T. Watson, Memphis, Tenn.

Vice Presidents—E. B. Pretlow, Maryville, Tenn.; L. C. Moore, Atlanta; G. D. Mayfield, South Carolina; S. D. Bradford, Birmingham; J. R. Stewart, New Orleans; A. J. Russell, Fort Worth, Texas; J. W. Cooper, superintendent of schools, Crozet, Va.; W. R. White, superintendent of schools, Morgantown, W. Va.; Dr. G. Gilman, Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, Md.

The local committees are almost identical with those for the state convention.

CHICAGO EXPOSITION.

Important Meeting of Committees on Mine and Mineral.

The committee on mines and minerals met, at the senate chamber today at 11 o'clock a.m., to consider the arrangement. The chairman of the committee, Mr. Julius L. Brown, called the committee together, and expressed his regret at the want of interest manifested by the members and the committee, in the work and at the annual meeting. He reported that he had been seen by Mr. McCormick, the chairman of the local committee, in Bartow county, reported that his committee had gone vigorously to work and had collected a large number of specimens and were still at work.

The thanks of the committee were extended to the Bartow county committee, and they were commended to other county committees, as a worthy example for them to follow.

It was unanimously resolved that all county committees which had not done so organize at once and proceed to collect specimens, and obtain subscriptions of money to place them properly before the world, and to help the needed and unfortunate in carrying on the work.

Major W. L. Lessner, who has been appointed by the state executive committee to work for the exposition and to collect specimens and money for the work, was present and addressed the committee, and asked for its assistance and co-operation.

Upon motion it was unanimously resolved that the committee would co-operate with Major Lessner, and that to this end the various local county committees be requested to aid him in every way possible, and that they be requested to notify him of all work done; that they procure a list of all those owning mines or mineral lands in their various counties of the state, and notify him of them, as well as to notify this committee as to their location, and give a full description as far as possible of them; that they collect specimens and money for the work.

Upon motion it was unanimously resolved that the press of Georgia, daily and weekly, be requested to publish their proceedings, and that they be also requested to urge upon the people of Georgia the great importance of the Chicago exposition, in making known to the world our great resources, the great resources of our state, and that unless they go to work at once failure will result.

The county committees were requested to send their mineral specimens once to the capitol in Atlanta, so that Professor Caldwell can classify and assort them.

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA

March Term, 1892—Order of Circumst. with the Number of Cases Undisposed Of.

Albany..... 4 Brunswick..... 6

Southern..... 6 Heel of Docket..... 6

Oconee..... 6

Proceedings Yesterday.

The following cases were disposed of:

Pataua Circuit.

Western Union Telegraph Co. v. James, Bishay, Redd & Berry, and W. H. Powell for plaintiff in error. W. D. Kidoo, contra.

Fitzgerald v. State. Walters & Edwards for plaintiff in error. J. M. Griggs, solicitor general, brief, contra.

Georgia Southern Railroad Co.

Bedgood & Royal v. McLain and vice versa. Martin & Smith, Busbee & Crum and W. Brunson for plaintiffs in error. G. F. Powell and Tate & Warren, by brief, contra.

Elkins v. Oliver. Dismissed.

Hamilton v. Williford. G. W. Wooten and Martin & Smith for plaintiff in error. J. F. Powell and Tate & Warren, by brief, contra.

McNutt v. Georgia Southern Railroad Co.

Bedgood & Royal v. McLain and vice versa. Martin & Smith, Busbee & Crum and W. Brunson for plaintiffs in error. G. F. Powell and Tate & Warren, by brief, contra.

Trotter v. Oliver. Dismissed.

Edwards v. State. C. W. H. Baker and W. H. Baker, of the Western Union Telegraph Co. v. James, Bishay, Redd & Berry, and W. H. Powell for plaintiff in error. W. D. Kidoo, contra.

DeVaughn v. Smith. Withdrawn.

Nicholson v. Wimley. G. W. Wooten and Martin & Smith for plaintiff in error. J. F. Powell and Tate & Warren, by brief, contra.

Edwards v. State. C. W. H. Baker and W. H. Baker, of the Western Union Telegraph Co. v. James, Bishay, Redd & Berry, and W. H. Powell for plaintiff in error. W. D. Kidoo, contra.

Young v. State. Abated.

Wooten v. Smith. Busbee & Crum for plaintiff in error. E. A. Hawkins, contra.

The departments presidents are:

Council of education—W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens—W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens, W. A. Wright, Columbus; Superintendent William Harper, Americus; secondary, J. C. Harris, Cedartown; normal, J. W. Glenn, Elberton; higher, W. E. Boggs, Athens.

President Euler B. Smith, LaGrange; Secretary, J. W. Frederick, Marshallville; treasurer, Edmon H. Orr, Atlanta; vice president, H. W. Woodall, Columbus; Miss E. F. Andrews, Macon.

The department presidents are:

Council of education, W. H. Harren, Savannah; elementary and kindergartens

THE CONSTITUTION.

PUBLISHED DAILY, SUNDAY AND WEEKLY.
The Daily, per page ..... $0.00
The Sunday (20 to 25 Pages), ..... 2.00
The Daily and Sunday, per year ..... 8.00
The Weekly, per year (13 Pages), ..... 1.00
All Editions Sent Postpaid to any address.
At decreased rates all subscriptions must be paid in advance.

Contractors may keep copies of articles. We do not undertake to return rejected MSS., and will do so under circumstances, unless accompanied by return postage.

NICHOLS & HOLLYDAY,
Eastern Advertising Agents.
Address: CONSTITUTION BUILDING, Atlanta, Ga.

12 CENTS PER WEEK
FOR THE DAILY CONSTITUTION, or 90 cents per month. Sixteen cents per week for THE DAILY AND SUNDAY CONSTITUTION, or 67 cents per calendar month; delivered to any address by carrier in the city of Atlanta. Send in your name at once.

Where to Find The Constitution.
THE CONSTITUTION can be found on sale as follows:

New York—Brentano's, No. 5 Union Square.
Cincinnati—J. R. Hawley, 102 Vine street.
Washington—Metropolitan Hotel.
Paris—Anglo-American reading rooms, Chausse'e Antenne and Rue Revereber.

ATLANTA, GA., June 28, 1892.

Mr. Cleveland and the South.
"The south," remarks a republican ex-change printed in Massachusetts, "will not solidly vote for Cleveland."

If this sort of bosh satisfies the republican editors they are welcome to its use and employment. It is an echo of the anti-convention campaign, and had reference to the availability of Mr. Cleveland before the convention. It is a statement that has no more vitality than a rag doll.

When the convention of the great democratic party, acting under the eyes of its most distinguished leaders, some of the most decided of them from the south itself, declared that Mr. Cleveland is an available candidate, the master is settled right there. The declaration of the convention became an indisputable fact, the moment it was uttered, and it will make itself felt in the most unmistakable way by the time the voters are ready to go to the polls on the issues of the campaign.

The availability of Mr. Cleveland at this time is the availability of the democratic party. Is there any sensible southern man who, on reflection, will refuse to support the democratic party because Mr. Cleveland is opposed to the free currency of silver, while the republican party is muzzling its boodlers and its bummers to turn the south over to negro rule?

It should not be forgotten by the hopeful republican prophet that there has been a total change in the programme of the campaign, and this change the convention has been instrumental in making.

The republicans have declared in favor of force bill legislation, and this practically obscures all other questions so far as the south is concerned. The silver issue becomes of small moment, and the tariff issue need not be seriously discussed here, where the people are of one mind.

The campaign centers and will continue to center about the desperate effort which the republican party is making to place the ballot boxes of the south in control of republican partisans, representing the federal government. This sinister programme is merely one feature of the republican plan of despoiling the states and the citizens thereof of their rights and crystallizing all control in the government at Washington.

Georgia and the World's Fair.
While our state committee having in charge the department of mines and minerals is putting in its best work, under the circumstances, it must be admitted that there is no enthusiasm in Georgia over the world's fair.

Unless something is done to stir up public interest in the great Chicago exposition the chances are that Georgia will be left out.

Next year when the entire civilized world makes a rush for Chicago—when Europe, Asia, Africa, Mexico and the South American countries all vie with each other in making the best possible exhibit—when each state in the union will strain every nerve to make an attractive display of its resources and products, we may expect to see Georgia catch the prevailing fever.

But next year it will be too late. If we are going to be properly represented at the world's fair, the work must be done now. There is no time to be lost. We must be up and doing or let our chance slip.

Evening in this country. Until recently he conducted an extensive ranch in the west. He has more than once shed cowboy blood, and his unpopularity was the cause of his return to his own country. We cannot believe that his career promises to be a long one. If justice fails to overtake him, private vengeance will dispose of him. There are Jews in France who will not long submit to the murderous pastime of this would-be destroyer of their race.

An Educational Campaign.

Several of our republican contemporaries predict that this will be an educational campaign, and they appear to be delighted at the prospect of settling down to a dignified argument which will go to the very bottom of the great issues now before the people.

It will be a campaign of education, but it will not be confined to a discussion of economic theories. Already some of the McKinley organs are denouncing the democrats in the most abusive language for their alleged revolutionary attempt to destroy American industry through their revenue plank. Then, we are abused by the money rings for our wildcat currency plank, that being their term for our proposed revival of state banks.

Will be a campaign of education, but it will not be confined to a discussion of economic theories. Already some of the McKinley organs are denouncing the democrats in the most abusive language for their alleged revolutionary attempt to destroy American industry through their revenue plank. Then, we are abused by the money rings for our wildcat currency plank, that being their term for our proposed revival of state banks.

The moment the farmers realize that to desert the democratic party is to give assistance to the republicans, there will be no third party in the south.

It was left for one of Mr. Cleveland's most protuberant champions in Georgia to give him the name of "crow." This seems to be a very flat conclusion to the hullabaloo.

It is to be feared that Editor John A. Cockrell, of New York, is becoming pessimistic. He is inclined to sneer at the venerable democratic party.

pold dog that barked at all the cats in the settlement, and finally got his eye put out by a weasel.

The republicans not only want high protection for the benefit of the monopolies, but they want buyout "protection" for the ballot boxes, in order to turn the south over to the control of the negroes.

A wet summer will be no compensation for the hard and dry fall ahead of the republicans.

The moment the farmers realize that to desert the democratic party is to give assistance to the republicans, there will be no third party in the south.

It was left for one of Mr. Cleveland's most protuberant champions in Georgia to give him the name of "crow." This seems to be a very flat conclusion to the hullabaloo.

It is to be feared that Editor John A. Cockrell, of New York, is becoming pessimistic. He is inclined to sneer at the venerable democratic party.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The New York Sun says the true power of a lawyer lies in his ability to state his claim, according to Mr. Daniel Webster, who himself possessed that ability.

The remark may properly be applied to others besides lawyers. It may be applied, for example, to writers, the writers of books and writings, magazines and journals. The ability to make a clear statement is not possessed by all writers, and the fact is to be regretted. Webster's remark may also properly be applied to public speakers, many of whom are incapable of making a clear statement, and hence lack the true power of oratory. It may likewise be properly applied to very many of whom do not even attempt to make the power of clear statement. This is to be regretted. We are disposed to entertain the opinion that, of all kinds of thinkers, it is the men of science who possess, in the highest degree, the ability of making clear statements, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the New York University Law school, recently quoted Mr. Webster's remark, and made a comment upon it which may look very plausible, and we are curious why this should be so. But even some of them often us very muddled statements, that obfuscate the mind. Dr. Austin Abbott, the dean of the

TA.

ONE GLIMMERING.

the Queen of

East Tennessee and Leased Lines in Receivers' Hands.

ARE GIVEN,

FILED IN COURT YESTERDAY.

The Defense

Ferde's Order Given in Full—The Entire System of Railroads Will Be Operated by Receivers.and triumphed, to be remembered
intracted an ment. Unight hours of great audience that night was a people needed no go see her. A stood waiting the last in very few
the rush to get usually seen or a Booth en-
the face of aon the first Opera Commend audience,
boxes, and just squeezed in chairs. Every-
the great dancer.
all the spirit
eased it go with upon the com-
down amid aSpanish stu-
guitars, mando-
the leader waved whisper was to
of the kind petals from
The sadly sweet
"Trovatore,"
the singing things
in purgatory,
which was soserpentine dance, danced as she an ordeal for the favorite. She re-she would compare was yet to come.
her have to the
to listen to the beautiful basket
the footlights and took roses
threw them down
kisses out

dumph.

the Spanish trou-
a troop of girls
what of a
A for him and Her dress was with gold. A her head, com-essentially eastern.
per five. She was given an ovation, pleasure and she her imitable played some ser-
and her son and her jeweled fingers,
the air as did her told a story of a she lay. The imprisoned by passing of her hand
by him, while the her figure and the old him chained. It
"Antope" and the one of the most stepped the mo-concert hall to this was called the
the Ells. Wheeler
It is not grow-one, not had one,
the and when the
the administration back and danced
was recalled,
still and this time style of shoe. The ar, movement in when she came drawn to her and
one. The Carmencita. She varied her costume too short in an statement of both success was never Atlanta ent-
act on this dancer.

Week.

Hans Asmund,

as exceedingly funny himself. The other
my were all good,
which the Deshon
a dollar a mile and four dollar inter season. Car-seen in this com-cities. In New for the past two Now she is play-they can go without and they are avail-penny. The sale is large and there DeGivie will be this week. The will be run
neighboring towns.
but the new night and at the

GOSSIP.

yesterday after-
to the friends
the contracting part-
W. Nealon and Lilla daughter of Mr. John well known in con-parties. For years he had been a mem-of W. M. Scott
she is well known to a friends. She is a woman. Mr. and home at Mr. Nealon's street, after the firsta number of friends and relatives. Mr.
Baldwin and Miss
monly was performed
after the marriage an
and the guests ina late hour.Nichols have returned to the eastern cities they were absent about many points of in-burning by steamer be-new York.

gone to New Holland

spend several days.

the charming daugh-D. Barwald, who has in Asheville, N. C., is city of Asbury Methodist ice cream estab-

idence of Mr. Elliott lives streets. All are

Osuna, Ga., and Miss

midtown, Ga., are visit-

180 Peters street.

in Madison, the guest

and every of the officers, directors, and employees of the said East Tennessee and Georgia Railroad Company are hereby required and commanded forth-and demand of the said receivers or their agents to turn over and such receivers or their duly authorized representatives, any and all books of account, vouchers, papers, deeds, leases, contracts, bills, notes, accounts, money, or other property in his or their hands or under his direction, or in the hands and every of such directors, officers, agents, servants, or employees are hereby commanded and required to obey and conform to such orders as may be given to them from time to time by the said receivers or their duly constituted representatives in conducting the operation of the said property, and in performing their duties as receivers, and each and every of such officers, directors, agents and employees of the said East Tennessee and Georgia Railroad Company are hereby enjoined from interfering in any way whatever, with the possession or management of any part of the property, over which the said receivers or their agents or employees, or interfering in any way to prevent the discharge of their duties, or obstruct the same in any manner.

said receivers are hereby fully authorized to operate the said system of railroads and property in their own name and in their corporation at their discretion, and in their manner as will, in their judgment, produce the most satisfactory results consistent with the discharge of their duties imposed thereon, and to collect and receive all sums due said company, and all the debts due said company, heretofore vested in full, and at the time of payment to employ and discharge and fix the compensation of all such officers, attorneys, managers, agents and employees, and the proper discharge of their trust, with the approval of one of the judges of this court.

The Constitution is the first paper to give to the reading public of this nation of country.

It is big news, for along with the East Tennessee and Georgia, we take charge of the Memphis and Louisville, the Knoxville and Ohio, the Birmingham, the Louisville and Cincinnati Southern, these being owned or leased by the East Tennessee and Georgia and Georgia.

Henry Pink and Charles McGhee are the receivers appointed, and they are to take immediate control.

The bill was filed before Judge Pardee, of the circuit court, on June 10, and the receiver issued an order in response to the appointment of the two receivers named, confirming their duties.

The further order, that inasmuch as these receivers have already filed with the circuit court same party in interest, the $200,000 bill no further bond, was filed by D. J. Moore, Circuit Judge.

New Orleans, La., June 18.—(Special)—Filing—Filed in clerk's office May 25th day of O. C. FULLER, Clerk.

ALL THE ROADS WANT MONEY.

Mr. Comer Has Gone North Again—Terminal Stock.

President H. M. Comer has gone to New Orleans, to take care of the affairs of the company, and Charles M. McGehee receivers of the East Tennessee and Georgia, the Cincinnati Southern under the control of the receivers, it being leased by the East Tennessee and Georgia for ninety-nine years.

Friend Pardee.

The bill was taken to Judge Pardee, of the division circuit court, reaching him on the 20th instant, and the receiver issued an order as related above above those are the orders filed in the At-court yesterday causing the entire of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and railroad to be bottled up in the
for a month.

These orders are already qualified and the bill is filed.

What the Bill Claims.

The bill voicing the claims of Samuel McGhee of New York, "for himself and the other stockholders who have claimed some pecuniary gain" goes on to show that he had indebt and fixed rental of the road amount to $56,014.

total stock divided into preferred and par at $77,070,000.

Bank debt, payable on demand, $1,- 000.

The bill goes further to explain that the capital stock is owned by the Richmond and West Point Terminal Company, which owns a majority of stock in the
and West Point companies, and shows that the
and Danville has recently been in the hands of a receiver.

The New York Times suggests that Receivers O'Kane, of the Terminal; Huidekoper and Foster, of the Danville; McGhee and Fink, of the East Tennessee, and Comer, of the Central, get together, or form a board of their own, and elect a president.

The papers in the East Tennessee's re-ceivership case were filed in the United States circuit court, yesterday.

Comer does not want the East Tennessee and Warehouse Company, which owns a majority of stock in the
and Danville companies, and shows that the
and Danville has recently been
in the hands of a receiver.

The New York Times says that orders of arrest are taken in connection with discoveries made by those who have been to the Terminal's affairs. It goes on to say:

Some strange rumors have been whispered about lately, and of criminal action to be taken against at least a dozen persons connected with the Richmond Terminal system, and another person less well known. It also says that these persons, who would not be discovered to have been more striking than creditable, there may be nothing in these rumors, which are spread by those in the know, and on the other hand there may be a good deal in them. If any one can possibly imagine that the big spread in the East Tennessee and Georgia and the Danville, and the Terminal, and the and Danville, first key came up, the Georgia boy hit a grounder to Stouch, who tried to hit Friend out at the home plate.

But Danie, Friend and Adams took advantage of the ball and Schabel chased it out and took it, and so did Ortman.

Schabel's luck continued, and he went to first on four balls, and then stole second.

Foster flew out, and McGann went to first, and then he struck out, and Friend scored, but he flew out to third. McGann stole second, but he was struck out, leaving Key on third, and Schabel on base.

Friend and Adams took advantage of the ball
and took it, and so did Ortman.

Friend and Adams took advantage of the ball
and took it, and so did Ortman.

The bases were full and no one was out.

Ortman flew out to Porter. Bammett hit a double, and Adams out at the home plate.

Schabel was out, but he was enough to put the ball to first in time to run. Bammett flew out to Plock and Schabel did the same to Stouch.

The fight is to take place between now and the 30th July, and the terms of the engagement to give two-thirds of the gate money to the winner and one-third to the loser.

It gives promise of a grand affair.

The young ladies of Atlanta have wished for some time.

HOW THE HORSES RUN.

Sheepish Bay Races.

Sheepish Bay June 27.—First race, Furtiture course, Dr. Harbison won, Correction second. Contribution third. Time 1:24.25.

Second race, Spring Hill, won, Schabel third. Total distance six and a half miles.

Fourth race, one mile, John Cavanaugh won.

May 1st, second. Fagot third. Time 1:41.35.

Fifth race, half a mile, Friend Prince won, Adams third. Time 0:50.

Sixth race, mile and three furlongs on the track. Lizzie C. won, Tom Rogers second, Snowball third. Time 1:44.20.

Washington Park Races.

Chicago, June 27.—Washington park is bad condition. Half a mile, Maud Marian won.

Lumberman second, Edith Belmont third. Time
1:01.

Second race, one mile, Joe Carter won.

Third race, mile and a furlong, Empress won, Red Grange second, Adicus third. Time 1:34.20.

Fourth race, a mile and a sixteenth, The Hero won, Ulster second, Old Pepper third. Time 1:36.20.

Fifth race, six furlongs, Eclipse won, Silverado second, Donahue third. Time 1:31.

WITHOUT AN ERROR.

The Atlanta Boys Put Up a Perfect Game Yesterday,
AND WON WITH HANDS DOWN.

An Exciting Game It Was, and It Was Won on Its Merits—The Games Yesterday.

and Atlanta handled the ball faultlessly in the field so that New Orleans could make no headway after the first inning. Twice the longhorns had balls fall with no outs, were cut off by double plays on weak hits. Atlanta put in Leach, their new pitcher, and while he did not go in for speed on the muddy grounds he showed lots of coolness and judgment. The feature of the game was the all-around field work of the Atlanta boys, who put up as pretty a game as has ever been seen on these grounds. The hitting of Porter, Ardner, and Schabel, the field work of Ardner, McGann, Key and Leach, for the visitors, and the hitting of Dowie, G. Adams, Plock and La-con, especially Lacon.

Memphis, Tenn., June 27.—(Special)—Memphis defeated Birmingham today in one of the most treacherous slugging matches ever seen on the home grounds. The errors of the Memphis team were many, but the errors of the Atlanta team were few, and hard to count.

It was almost sundown when the game closed, resulting in a score of 13 to 10 in favor of the Atlanta boys. The Memphis team was battered and the bases were batted right and left. Then Bessell was up to pitch, but he was no more effective than the Memphis pitcher, and the errors of the game were so well distributed that he was not to blame.

The next man to bat flew out to Porter on first, but the tension was not relieved much.

The next man hit to Leach, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Key, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Plock, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Dowie, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Leach, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Key, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Plock, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Dowie, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Leach, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Key, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Plock, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Dowie, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Leach, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Key, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Plock, who fielded

it well and sent it to the corner.

Then the ball was hit to Dowie

ON TO OMAHA.

The Third Party Delegates Leave Tomorrow.

A NUMBER HAVE ALREADY GONE

Editor Irvin Has Set Up a Headquarters in Omaha, and Is Ready to Name the President.

From every quarter of the state the third party politicians will come into Atlanta today, bound for Omaha, to attend the national people's party convention.

Twenty-five of these gentlemen will leave in a special train, over the East Tennessee road.

Already the advance guard of the third parties has arrived, and a few of the eager ones have gone ahead and leaped into the fray.

Among these is Editor Irvin. He now in Omaha, has established the Georgia headquarters, and, although the business of nominating a president is what new to him, a veteran Colonel C. P. Post is with him. Irvin, and he wears the air of a leader, and directs how things shall be done. He has helped to name the leader of any number of forlorn hopes before, and he's used to it. He doesn't expect his man to be elected. His man never was elected. It's the fun of running a party, and having a platform and candidate, and the privilege of claiming everything in sight, that gives Mr. Post heart to do his work.

When the Georgia delegation reaches Omaha Saturday, covered with linen dust and travel stain, they will find that arrangements have already been made for their accommodations.

On the special train that leaves tomorrow, about two hundred third parties will go. The leaders from every crossroads in the state will go. Mell Branch's smiling face will be along. Ellington, Gilmore, Gorman, Peck and the other leaders will be there, and, for the first time, they will enjoy the novelty of running a national convention.

They have already packed their grips, brushed their linen dusts and got their tickets ready.

In a double-headed editorial Editor Irvin announces in his paper that the delegates to Omaha will not travel in such elegant style as the democrats on their way to Chicago. They won't even be in sleeping cars, and when they are, they are to be modest—much which, he says, is due for grub. He says the delegates will carry from home enough "grub" to last them for the first day or so, in order to save money.

The convention itself will be a study. There is no precedent for such a gathering.

Picturesque, unique, original, novel, and deeply interesting will be the delegations from the field, the factory and the workshops, and they will present an appearance altogether unlike that of any other convention that ever assembled.

Every movement will be watched with interest by the country at large, as the delegates for the first time will try their hands at the great national game of politics.

The delegates are in darkness as to what will be done. The removal of Colonel Irvin left the party without a leader and now they are casting about for some man to carry the party's band—some name to wean the empty honor.

They are looking westward for that leader. One of the men in the Georgia delegation believe a western man will be selected, perhaps Stanford. They regard the west as the battleground of the present campaign, and say that Georgia and the rest of the south will support whoever is nominated.

They make the most extravagant claims. The campaign committee of the People's party in this state has issued an address in regard to the Omaha convention.

Theodore, absurd statement that whoever is nominated at Omaha will be the next president. The address says that success is already assured, and calls the attention of the party adherents to the importance of the convention at Omaha.

The convention is set for July 4th. Who will be temporary or permanent chairman, who will lead in the convention, who will receive the party nomination for president and vice president—all these questions remain unanswered by developments at the convention.

One thing is assured, however. Ignatius Donnelly will write the platform.

Tommy Watson may be lured from studies at Washington long enough to attend the convention.

The democratic and republican conventions have already met and deliberated, but neither of them will compare with the Omaha convention still to come.

See if they do.

Among the Delegates.

"Blaine is my man," said one of the third party men who is going to Omaha.

"I would vote for his nomination quicker than I would for that of any other man. Of course, he is no candidate, and probably won't be, but if he is, we'll see how the use of his name, we shan't party folk would nominate him so quick it would make your head spin."

"I don't want to run," said another. "We need Watson in our ranks to help our cause alone. I would hate to see him withdraw from the race in the tenth district, though I believe he could get first place on the ticket if he wanted it."

The Third Party in Warren.

Washington, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—A rally here Saturday evening had a big turn-out. Slaton and Walker were held for speeches, but owing to circumstances unavoidable the former speaker did not appear. Brother Walker was on hand, though, and whooped up the boys for about an hour and a half.

Y. M. C. A. ATHLETICS.

Professor Ed Drake Is Back—Arranging for the Big Field Day.

Professor Ed Drake, who has been absent from the city attending a convention of the Young Men's Christian Association at the south at Knoxville, has returned and has resumed his duties at the YMCA.

The field day has been set for July 29th at Ponc de Leon springs, where the members practice for several days except Tuesdays and Thursdays. A swimming class leaves the Young Men's Christian Association building at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday, to swim for Paula pond, where special races will be secured. Each Tuesday and Thursday night the class meets at the gym for class work.

The Young Men's Christian Association boys have organized a baseball club, which is playing good ball.

Those who attend the field sports may expect some good performances, as the boys are working hard to get in good training for the occasion.

An Hour Nearly Cut Off.

Gainesville, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—William McCoy, a seventeen year old, while riding on the side of a steep hill, at the top of which this boy was struck by a piece of iron from a passing engine and knocked down. His head was cut off and the iron was being almost entirely cut off the head.

Has Left for Atlanta.

Lawrence, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—President of the Georgia Teachers Association, left for Atlanta this morning to represent his association in an indefinite meeting which will meet there on the 28th. This meeting will have nothing to do with the making of the southern trip, the national meeting.

W. L. Faxon Accountant.

W. L. Faxon, accountant, checked up accounts weekly or monthly, and trial balance, and made out partnership statements made; stocks, bonds, and bank negotiations.

A HAUNTED HOUSE

Causing Considerable Excitement in Randolph County.

CLANKING OF CHAINS AND GROANS

Heard Nightly by Large Crowds That Visit the Scene—The Whipping of Flying Stones.

Cuthbert, Ga., June 27.—(Special)—Cuthbert does not usually tie on to haunted houses and ghost stories. In fact, she has been told by few, if any, before for publication or otherwise. But she has a real live one on hand now which is attracting wonderful attention. Cold chills seize hold of those in the neighborhood and their hair is caused to stand straight from fright. The scene of all this mystery and confusion is on the Yarbrough plantation, northwest of Cuthbert about eight miles. The people in the neighborhood are aroused and many curious crowds are nightly attracted to the spot. Some time ago a young woman on the premises was taken suddenly and violently ill, and died before attorney could be furnished. Whether this has anything to do with the matter or not, no one knows, but it only has happened since that time. Night after night it has been kept up and now the whole community is aroused.

The Haunted House.

Young Messrs. Richard, Fey, John and Harry Yarbrough live in the house. It is a four-room house with two main front rooms and two shed rooms in the rear, with a hall between. It is particularly one of these shed rooms that these mysterious happenings take place. Unusual and unearthly noises and mysterious happenings occur—the clanking of chains and yet they can't find the source of the noise, and yet they can't harm or hurt them and parties are unable to locate them. Parties are diligent in their searches and yet can't unravel the mystery. The room is ceiling overhung, a door closed, and the window is broken. A party from Cuthbert composed of Dr. W. H. and Mathew Wade, Ab Jones, Sam Hillman, Tom Byers, Elmwood Martin and Sut Baldwin went out last night and carefully robed out, but nothing was kept up, no doubt, in the solution of this mysterious problem can be solved. Some offer the suggestion that it is a cunning device of these young men, but to offset this it is said that Mr. Phil Yarbrough and wife are there. They do not know whether the young men were away from home. They were known to have been at a school exhibition in Spring Vale, and yet the same spectacle took place. They were away last night, when the Cuthbert people were at home, but the house was kept up after their arrival and when every one of the young men was with the party and in sight. No one else lives on the place save these young men.

The Ghost Fired Upon.

It is a cunning device of some person he must evidently be as brave as a lion for when these young starts the firing of guns and pistols take place, they do not fire the firing the louder the noise. It would take one man to stand instead of the firing and bullets and buckshot flying in every direction.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if you ask them they will say that the two girls were away from home, as well as when there and known to be with the crowd. No one else lives in the house. Then comes the question who is it and what is it? This is puzzling many people.

The two sisters were heartbroken. They were deserts, the younger girl's grief was uncontrollable and that of her loving sister was hardly less bitter.

They do not report the matter to the police, and if